Contact Congress on Behalf of High-Performance Buildings

The High-Performance Building Congressional Caucus Coalition (HPBCCC) is hosting the first annual Virtual Congressional Visits Day (vCVD) during the week of June 15. Members of the HPBCCC participating organizations are asked to contact their Member of Congress by phone and e-mail and encourage them to join the High-Performance Building Congressional Caucus and to focus on high-performance building issues—this is critically important as energy and climate legislation is being considered.

Information on the program including fact sheets, contact templates, and participating organizations is available at www.hpbccc.org/cvd.

The HPBCCC is a private sector coalition providing guidance and support to the High-Performance Building Caucus of the U.S. Congress. _____ is a proud member of this coalition. The High-Performance Buildings Congressional Caucus Coalition works with the Congressional Caucus to promote and showcase best practices in building design and focus on issues reflecting all aspects of high-performance buildings including: accessibility, aesthetics, cost-effectiveness, functionality, historic preservation, productivity, safety and security, and sustainability.
