Congressional Budget and Funding Issues for Fiscal Year 2012

Perspectives from the Congressional Progressive Caucus and House Tea Party Caucus

Sponsors:

After a fierce battle over fiscal year 2011, many funding issues remain unresolved, and with a slow economic recovery, and the U.S. debt ceiling drawing near, the stage is set for another Congressional showdown between progressives and conservatives which will have impacts that ripple across the nation.

Come join us for a briefing that will discuss these funding issues, featuring representatives from key groups in Congress, in addition to a discussion on President Barack Obama's FY 2012 budget request for the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA). GSA uses its expertise to provide innovative acquisition solutions that reduce costs and improve services to the federal government and U.S. taxpayers. GSA also manages thousands of federal properties, and provides national leadership, policy direction, and standards in the areas of architecture, engineering, urban development, design, fine arts, historic preservation, construction services, and project management.

This briefing is being held in collaboration with the events for High-Performance Building Week (May 23-29). For a full schedule of events for High-Performance Building Week, visit www.hpbccc.org/hpbweek.
