Sustainability in Practice American University Sustainability Facilities Tour

Conserving natural resources and protecting the environment have benefits that impact the American public and a wide range of stakeholders; however it can sometimes be difficult to envision what these concepts look like in practice. American University has placed an emphasis on sustainability, and has taken a large number of steps towards reducing their environmental impact.

Come join us for a tour of the energy efficiency, waste reduction, and many other suitability efforts in place at American University's campus in Washington, DC.

This tour is being held in collaboration with the events for High-Performance Building Week (May 23-29). For a full schedule of events for High-Performance Building Week, visit www.hpbccc.org/hpbweek.

Wednesday May 25, 2011 ● 2:00pm – 3:30pm
American University, Main Campus
4400 Massachusetts Avenue, NW
Washington, DC

The tour will begin at 2:00pm, outside of the School of International Service, at the corner of New Mexico and Nebraska Avenues.

In the case of inclement weather, a virtual tour will be held in room 300 of the School of International Service building.

Attendees will receive a sustainability map of the campus.

Directions to the campus: American University (AU) provides a free shuttle to campus from the Tenleytown/AU Metro Station (Red Line). Driving and Metro directions can be found at <http://www.american.edu/loader.cfm?csModule=security/getfile&pageid=221207>. Several WMATA Bus lines are also convenient to campus including the N2, N4, N8, and M4. Visit www.wmata.com for information regarding bus routes and timetables.

Register Now! All interested Congressional staff, stakeholders, and the general public are cordially invited to this widely attended event. There is no charge for the event, but space is limited. Please RSVP by Monday May 23, 2011 to Emily Curley by email at curley@american.edu or by fax at (202) 885-3278.
